SMOOT WANTS EARLY START FOR CONGRESS

Coolidge Will Call Extra Session if Majority of Leaders Approve
MANY PROBLEMS AT HAND
Investigations May Slow Down Work Unless Disposed of Earlier

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1927 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Both President Coolidge and Senator Smoot are reflecting accurately in their statements the situation with reference to an extra session. The denial issued at the White House that the president had closed his mind on the subject does not mean that the prediction made by the Utah senator of an extra session in the autumn will prove unfounded.

The apparent conflict is explainable on the ground that the president has always taken with respect to extra sessions. He has felt that until the day he actually summoned such a session he must be free to act otherwise. All that he has indicated thus far is that when the fall of the year arrives he will call such a session unless the demand from leaders is against such a course. He finds Senator Smoot in hearty accord with the idea not so much from the viewpoint of an extra session to handle emergency legislation but to get the next congress started at least a month or two in advance of December so that the Republican party will not find itself a legislative jam and perhaps a filibuster at the very time when the next national convention is about to be held.

MANY CONTROVERSIES
Mr. Coolidge has been besought by many members of congress to call an extra session now so as to tackle the Mississippi flood problem, but he thinks that until the reports of the engineers are available and concrete plans can be made there would be no gain in time by calling congress now. As for the autumn of the year, it is apparent that the next congress is going to be involved in a number of complex controversies which will consume considerable time. Thus the Vane-Smith senatorial contests must be disposed of before the revision of the revenue law which promises to develop all sorts of discussion as to where the cuts shall be made. Political pressure will be at its height because the presidential campaign is so near.

The investigating fever is in the air and the earlier the session would be called the more time would the investigators have to stir up their pet subjects. But the advantages outweigh the disadvantages as President Coolidge sees it, especially if the taxpayers are to know before the revision of their tax burdens are to be. The flood appropriations will have to be considered in estimating the possible absorption of the surplus and there are the usual pleas for more expenditures of public funds which will have to be faced.

The House ways and means committee will meet earlier than December, anyway, as has been its custom in years when tax revision is definitely a part of the legislative program and there must be opportunity given to interested parties to attend hearings. Mr. Coolidge reserves the right to change his mind about it between now and next September but indications are that he will keep the matter open until the fall and make his formal announcement at that time.

HOLLYWOOD COPS DOUBT ACCOUNT OF BRANDING

Hollywood—(AP)—The story of Miss Doris Williams, stage and screen extra, that she was seized at the door of her apartment by an "ape-like" man who carved seven "K's" on her forehead and chest, was the subject of a vigorous investigation Friday by the police who frankly declared they were skeptical of the actress' version of the affair.

The officers said they had been unable to obtain any corroborative evidence for the actress' version. They received the seven strange letters, but they added that it had not been disproved. They pointed out that when they arrived at the apartment they found the room was not disarranged and that there were only a few drops of blood in evidence. The officers regarded as significant the fact that all of the "K's" with the exception of a few on the arms were made backward. They would appear as the usual letters if viewed in a mirror, the officers said.

ASSEMBLY VOTES NEW AUTO FOR GOVERNOR

Madison—(AP)—Along with other appropriations introduced in the assembly Thursday, was one allowing $2,000 out of the governor's office appropriation for purchase of a new automobile for the executive.

PROBE TWO MURDERS, SUICIDE AT SHEBOYGAN

$325,000 Pledged In Drive
For $3,000,000 For College

A total of $325,000 has been pledged toward the $3,000,000 endowment campaign which Lawrence college is now engaged in. It was disclosed in a report made at the annual meeting of the board of trustees Friday morning at the college library, by the director of the endowment council, William F. Ashe. Names of the donors were not announced, but it is understood they are all members of the board of trustees, and that they will not be announced until the entire board has been canvassed.

Heavy Storm Damage In North Portion Of State

Superior—(AP)—Upper Wisconsin farmers Friday were taking toll of the amount of damage which followed in the path of severe wind and rain storms Thursday night. The wind crippled wire communication for miles around Rice Lake and Spooner and destroyed trees on many state and county roads.

Communication with Spooner and Rice Lake where the storm in the northern section of the state was reported to have done the greatest damage was reestablished about 10 o'clock Friday morning. Several barns belonging to the Rice Lake area were razed, some crops were severely damaged although no loss of life was reported from either section. Washburn and Barron counties seemed to suffer the most damage, reports coming in from outlying districts that the heavy rains caused swollen streams and inundated bridges, flooding roads and adding to the disorder in farming districts.

Motorists along highways between Superior and Ashland and between Superior and Spooner had difficulty traveling, although the majority of state highways are reported in good shape. Between Spooner and Rice Lake, 30 miles south of here, and Spooner, an abandoned barn collapsed from the force of the wind and many early summer crops were laid low. This was the greatest damage reported in Douglas county.

Ships scheduled to leave the Superior harbor with cargoes of ore, grain and merchandise, were forced to lay over until Friday.

ENDS HEARING ON FOREST-CO PLEAS

Judge Risjord Allows Attorneys 10 Days to File Briefs for Trials

Crandon—(AP)—Circuit Judge F. N. Risjord, Ashland, heard pleas in the matter coming up on the indictments by grand jury of Forest-co here Thursday and after hearing arguments by both counsel for the defense and the state, permitted the attorneys 10 days in which to file briefs and 5 days additional for entry. The hearing was ended late in the afternoon.

Judge Risjord was selected by Circuit Court Judge W. B. Quinn, Marinette, to hear and decide the merits of the plea in abatement filed in nearly 100 cases. The arguments, made by Attorneys M. G. Eberlein and A. S. Larson of Shawano, and Irving Fish of Milwaukee, were to sustain the pleas and quash the indictments. Attorney Roland Steinle, Milwaukee, special prosecutor, appeared for the state and quoted largely from prepared briefs.

The points made by the defense questioned the validity of the grand jury in that they claimed the right of presiding Judge Quinn to examine prospective jurors as to their qualifications, and also that in submitting the list of grand jurors from which the jury was drawn two out of three jury commissioners were disqualified, one for the reason that he was not a resident of the county and the other because of the fact that he was not a jury commissioner.

Attorney Steinle, in his prepared brief, countered all the points argued by the defense attorneys, saying that the court did have a right to question the prospective grand jurors as to their qualifications.

MARQUETTE STUDENTS KEEP WEDDINGS SECRET

Milwaukee—(AP)—For months two prominent figures on the Marquette university campus have enjoyed married life unknown to their friends. News leaked out at the commencement exercises when they received diplomas that entitled them to practice dentistry and medicine.

It had been known that Donald Crane of Antigo, football star, was married five months ago at Crown Point, Ind., to Miss Violet Dickinson of Milwaukee. For two months they have both been attending school with only a few intimate friends knowing of their romance. Both received diplomas.

Dr. Crane will practice dentistry at Watertown and Mr. McGill will pursue his practice at St. Joseph with his father, Dr. W. J. McGill.

TRACE MOTIVE TO QUARREL OF FATHER, SON

Police Believe Youth Who Went to Confess Crime Shot Preacher

Sheboygan—(AP)—With thin clues on which to work, police and Coroner C. N. Sonneburg Friday sought a motive for the triple shooting by Walter Doering, 27-year-old paralytic and son of a Sheboygan Lutheran church, for 27 years and then killed himself. Each died instantly from one bullet wound through the temple.

Police were confronted with a difficult task in attempting to establish the motive for the crime. There was not witness to either shooting, so police could only conjecture what happened before Doering shot his father to death and dragged his body to the basement of their home and later went to the pastor's home where he killed the minister and then ended his own life.

INSANITY IN FAMILY
There are traces of insanity in the family. The father and one son, William, were addicted to drink and both had been confined in the State Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh as epileptics. Evidence of quarrels between the father and son, Walter, whose paralytic condition kept him idle, was given by the mother and other members of the family and the coroner regarded the possibility of the son having killed his father as the culmination of a quarrel.

They theorized that the crazed son when he learned that the body of his father had been found by his mother might have fled to either his home or the minister and then changed his mind and killed the pastor to cover up his crime before shooting himself.

One of the strange features of the triple tragedy which is unexplained is that police have been unable to find that any member of either household had any shots. The revolver with which the men were killed, found clutched in Doering's hand was an ordinary .32 calibre weapon. The triple tragedy left two large families fatherless. Doering was the father of 10 children and there are 12 children in the family of the pastor. The wives of both men are living.

SON FINDS BODIES
Arriving at the pastor's home while the family was at luncheon he was admitted and asked by the Rev. Mr. Wambagans to step upstairs into his study. The young man acquiesced. Nothing is known of what transpired. When the pastor remained away from an interrupted meal, his son Paul, 15, entered the study and found the bodies.

The minister had been shot through the right temple. Young Doering, like the father, was shot in the left temple. The pastor's body was lying near the window sill behind his chair. The youth's body was lying face downward on the floor about three feet away. There was no violence. An inquest will be held.

CLIMATIC CONDITIONS REDUCE YEAR'S CROP

Washington—(AP)—Detrimental climatic conditions have handicapped farming in many sections of the country. Continued rains and inclement weather have delayed wheat and corn planting. The Department of Agriculture has been informed in many important sections. The department in its June crop report showed a decline of approximately 27,000,000 bushels in probable production of winter wheat.

Only 25 to 50 per cent of the plantings of corn have been made in many districts. The flooded condition of the Mississippi valley and the extreme drought in the southwest and Florida also presented contrasting aspects of the climatic handicaps in the agricultural outlook, according to the department. The weather conditions of the next week or ten days, the department said, will be of paramount influence on many of the year's crops.

TILDEN AND HUNTER DEFEAT IRISH STARS

Dublin, Ireland—(AP)—William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter Friday scored their third straight victory in their international tennis matches with Ireland stars, defeating L. A. Nelson and E. A. Maguire in the doubles 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

LONE AIRMAN HUNTS FOR MISSING FRENCH TRANS-OCEAN FLIERS

St. John, N. F.—(AP)—Undismayed by his "first day's failure," Major F. Sidney Cotton was eager Friday to renew his air search for Captains Nungesser and Francois Coll missing French trans-Atlantic fliers who are believed to have met disaster somewhere near this island.

Major Cotton flew his big monoplane the Jeanne d'Arc over the jagged coast line and rugged interior of the huge wedge of land including this city.

From scattered communities in this area came persistent reports of a humming airplane on May 9, the day the French fliers were due to reach this side of the Atlantic on a route that was believed would take them over this island on their way from Paris to New York.

The report, which reached three hours in the air in the late afternoon, but could discover no trace of wreckage or any other clue.

SENATE ENGROSSES BILL TO MERGE 11 STATE DEPARTMENTS

Present Board of Public Affairs to Be Abolished if Measure Is Passed

BULLETIN
Madison—(AP)—Senator R. Bruce Johnson's bill for a six-man non-paid conservation commission is not passed by this session of the legislature, Governor Fred R. Zimmerman may call a special session of the legislature to take up conservation legislation.

Madison—(AP)—Engrossment of Senator Dold's interim committee bill, consolidating 11 state departments into one board of public affairs was ordered by the senate Friday.

The bill, which received the sanction of the upper house without a roll call, consolidates the present civil commission, the office of superintendent of public property, the department of state engineer, the printing board and other minor offices. The present board of public affairs would be abolished under the provisions of the bill.

FAVOR FARM BILL
A bill by Senator Schumann, calling for the appointment of an interim committee to investigate agricultural conditions in Wisconsin was also ordered engrossed. A $100,000 appropriation for carrying on such work is included in the bill.

A motion to kill Senator Goodlands bill, providing for the indemnification of farmers whose cattle are slaughtered following a tubercular test, lost by a 9 to 7 vote. The tie could not be broken since the presiding officer, Lieut. Governor Huber was not in the chair.

The senate Thursday night passed Senator Casperson's bill calling for the consolidation of all state departments concerned with automobiles.

The vote was 15 to 7. The bill provides for a motor vehicle department. It also would take over the administration of the state gasoline tax.

Two bills relating to schools, also were passed. They were Senator Bold's measure, providing that all out-of-state students be charged additional tuition at state normal schools and Assemblyman Hitt's that all college fraternities and sororities be taxed on their real and personal property.

HORTONVILLE WOMAN FINED ON DRY COUNT

Mrs. R. H. Blank Pays Fine of $100 and Costs for Possession of Liquor

Mrs. R. H. Blank, proprietor of Duck Inn, Hortonville, Friday morning was fined $100 and costs for possession of illicit intoxicating liquor. She pleaded guilty to the charge and paid her fine.

BERLIN HEAPS NEW HONORS ON U. S. AVIATORS

German Officials Sing Praise—Americans Fete Chamberlin, Levine

Berlin—(AP)—Americans from all parts of the Germany were flocking to Berlin Friday for a dinner dance to be given by the American club Friday night in honor of the trans-Atlantic fliers, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine.

Another feature of a day that promises to see the climax of their visit to Berlin, from the social standpoint, is a great banquet by the municipality of Berlin, at which the burgomasters to be present with special plaques.

The aviators intend to visit Munich and Vienna. They will fly to Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia next Thursday, visiting the international aviation exhibition as the guests of the aerial club of Prague. Chamberlin is anxious to make a call at Rome as part of his European tour.

WANTS TO SEE ROMIE
"I feel I owe it to Bellanca, if it can possibly be arranged, to see the Eternal City," he said. Riuseppe Bellanca, now in New York, designed and built his plane.

Honors and gifts continue to be heaped on Chamberlin and Levine because they landed on German soil in their trans-Atlantic flight. Not only have they heard their praises sounded by President Von Hindenburg, Foreign Secretary Stresemann and other officials, but they learned that one of Berlin's streets is to be named after their plane "Columbia Strasse."

Chamberlin received word also that the management of the principal brewery of Pilsen has offered to name one of its brands of beer after him subject to his approval, and to present him with a tankard of honor.

MEET WAR AVIATORS
The aviators were welcomed at a tea at the German aerial club Thursday afternoon where they made the acquaintance of most of the living German war time aces, and Thursday night they were guests at a gala dinner given in their honor by the minister of communications, Herr Koch.

In address of welcome the minister said: "Rarely have men in Germany been received with such jubilation, such indescribable joy as you. Once it was Columbus—today it is Columbia."

Foreign Minister Stresemann's luncheon to the fliers Thursday was attended by most of the high officials and numerous prominent aviators.

AVIATOR DROWNS AS PLANE BREAKS

Companion Is Rescued and Body of Daidell McKee Is Recovered

Montreal—(AP)—Daidell McKee of Pittsburgh, aviator said to have held the record for the longest land flight with a seaplane, was drowned Thursday night at La Peche, in the Laurentian mountains, when his plane broke in two as it alighted on the water. McKee was accompanied on the flight by Lieut. Hogan of the United States Army Flying Corps, who was rescued from La Peche. McKee's body was recovered.

The accident followed a test flight from Montreal in a new plane in which McKee, a wealthy sportsman, was acting as a skilled pilot, planned a circuit to Alaska non-stop flight. According to Lieut. Hogan the plane alighted on the water and suddenly broke in two at the cockpit. The fliers were released into the water as the plane sank he said.

WEALTHY RECLUSE, LIVING ON 80 CENTS A DAY, FOUND DEAD

New York—(AP)—A 70-year-old recluse who lived in the shadow of Brooklyn bridge on 80 cents a day was identified Friday as Charles Francis King, mining engineer who had amused a fortune.

Known as "the mystery man" in the neighborhood, a factory and tenement section of Brooklyn, he was found dead Thursday in the dingy basement of two adjoining frame houses he owned. Police believe he died a week ago.

On the wall of one room hung a diploma showing King had been graduated from Lehigh university in 1880 with the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science. A well stocked library contained books by King on mining engineering. Patrolman O'Connell said King had said he had $500,000 invested in foreign bonds, although he lived on a daily budget of 80 cents.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER HURT IN COLLISION DIES OF INJURIES

Warrant Is Issued for Driver of Automobile Which Struck E. E. Mielke

Elmer Edward Mielke, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mielke, 615 W. Lawrence-st., who was knocked from his motorcycle late Wednesday night at the corner of E. Wisconsin-ave and the Freedom road in a collision with an automobile driven by A. J. Roehle, 919 N. State-st., died from his injuries at 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

His head, face and neck was lacerated and bruised, and his body was injured in a number of places, his physicians reported. More than 150 stitches were required to close his wounds when he was taken to the hospital Wednesday night, it was said.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, the Misses Ella and Eva, both of Appleton; one brother, Herman, of Appleton; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Paul of the town of Harrison and Mrs. Lottie Mielke of Neenah.

The funeral will be held from the home on W. Lawrence-st. at 1:30 Saturday afternoon with the Rev. Ph. A. Froehke of St. Matthew Lutheran church in charge. Interment will be in the Oakhill cemetery at Neenah.

Arranged Friday morning in municipal court for turning a corner too sharply, Roehle pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He furnished bail of $100, he was arrested Friday morning by Officer A. P. Deltgen.

The charge preferred against him is a violation of section 5 of Revised ordinance 161. According to the complaint, the motorist "at the corner of E. Wisconsin-ave and N. Meade-st. turned north on N. Meade-st. without continuing to the opposite side or east side of N. Meade-st. before changing the direction to the left of the automobile he was driving."

BANDITS HOLD UP OIL STATION AT LA CROSSE

La Crosse—(AP)—Two masked armed men held up a Standard Oil company station here Thursday night and escaped in a automobile with $50.

A similar holdup was staged at Winona earlier in the week, and local authorities believe the same men did both jobs.

20 Persons Executed By Firing Squad In Russia

REPORT VALERA PARTY
WINNER IN IRISH VOTE
Dublin—(AP)—Although it probably will be the middle of next week before the exact results are known of Thursday's election for a new Dail Eireann, the prevailing opinion in Dublin Friday was that the government would have at least a working majority.

Not a few believed it would be much larger than had been expected this, despite the fact that the candidates of the faction headed by Eamon De Valera which is opposed to the present free state constitution was expected to have won a large vote.

60 PLANES AND BLIMP GREET HERO AT SEA

100,000 Americans Will Watch President Award Flying Cross to "Lindy"

MOTHER AWAITES HER SON
Soldiers, Sailors and Marines to Parade to Washington Monument

BULLETIN
Cape Henry, Va.—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh entered American waters late Friday when the cruiser Memphis, bringing him home to a national reception, was sighted off the Virginia capes.

Washington—(AP)—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the famous flier, broke her rail journey from Detroit to Washington Friday at Baltimore and was to be brought here from that city Friday afternoon in a whitehouse automobile. Mrs. Lindbergh will be the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge. The president saw one of his aides to Baltimore to meet Mrs. Lindbergh.

Washington—(AP)—Washington is prepared to honor Saturday with one of its greatest welcoming ceremonies in history the heroic New York, N. Y. flier, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The first taste of the admiration of the American people for his epic flight, however, was to be given the 25-year-old pilot on the last stretch of his voyage from Europe late Friday.

LINDY TO GET 1ST COPY OF AIR MAIL STAMP IN HIS HONOR

Washington—(AP)—The Lindbergh air mail stamp, the first copy of which is being mounted in a special album for presentation to Colonel Lindbergh Saturday by Postmaster General New, will be placed on sale June 15 at four post offices and the government's philatelic agency here.

The post offices will be at St. Louis, Detroit, his birthplace; Little Falls, Minn., his boyhood home, and Washington. The stamps will be issued to other post offices as fast as the supply is sufficient.

when the navy dirigible Los Angeles and 60 army and navy airplanes, together with a convoy of six destroyers, were on their way to meet the cruiser Memphis as she rounded the Virginia capes. The cruiser was scheduled to pass the capes at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Meanwhile a proud mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, a Detroit school teacher, was anxiously awaiting in Washington the triumphant return of her son. She and Colonel Lindbergh are to be the guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge during the aviators' stay in Washington.

GREATEST WELCOME READY

Upon landing at the navy yard at noon Saturday the youthful pilot will receive plaudits and tributes of a proud nation, such as never before have been accorded to a private citizen.

Met at the dock by three cabinet members, Secretary of War D. C. Hughes, secretary of the navy, and Postmaster General New, Colonel Lindbergh will be the cynosure of hundreds of thousands in a parade of soldiers, sailors and marines past the capitol and along Pennsylvania-ave to the Washington monument. There the nation's chief executive, President Coolidge, will extend the welcome of the United States to the young birdman with an expected crowd of 100,000 as spectators and will pin on his breast the government's highest award for aviation achievement, the first distinguished flying cross ever to be struck off.

A continuous round of honors and receptions then will await the knight of the air for the remainder of his stay in Washington until early Monday.

BUILDING AND LOAN DECLARES DIVIDEND

A dividend of $28,800 for the first half of 1927 was declared on paid up and installment shares in the Appleton Building and Loan association at the monthly meeting of the directors at the association offices Thursday evening. The dividend is 3 per cent on paid up shares, or 6 per cent for the entire year, and 4 per cent on installment shares or 8 per cent for the year. Applications for $49,400 in loans were approved by the directors.

PLUMS AND PEACHES REACH MARKET HERE

Quality of Fruits Improves as Harvesting Season Approaches

Fresh plums and peaches, the first of this year's crop to reach Wisconsin from the orchards of California, can be purchased this week at Appleton fruit markets. While the fruit is not of the same quality as that which reaches local markets later in the summer, it is of a very good grade for this time of the year. Dealers say plums retail at from 25 to 35 cents a dozen and peaches at from 30 to 40 cents a dozen.

With the gradual approach of harvesting season, especially in the southern and western states the grade and variety of fruits reaching local markets becomes better each week according to the dealers. Fresh watermelons can be purchased at from 60 to 75 cents each; cherries, 50 to 65 cents; oranges, 25 to 30 cents a dozen; pineapples, 20 to 35 cents apiece; blackberries, 40 cents; strawberries, 25 to 35 cents; cantaloupe, 20 to 35 cents; bananas, two to three pounds for 25 cents; lemons, three for 10 cents.

Many homegrown vegetables are reaching local markets to tempt the palates of the buyers who visit the stores. Among the home grown offerings are spinach, 25 cents a pound; green onions, 5 cents; fresh radishes 5 cents; cucumbers, 15 to 30 cents; turnips, 15 to 20 cents; rhubarb, 5 cents; beets, 15 to 20 cents.

Other vegetables on the market this week are: carrots, 10 to 12 cents; tomatoes, 20 to 35 cents; cucumbers, 5 to 20 cents; green beans, 30 cents; wax beans, 30 cents; green peas, 25 cents; new potatoes, 12 cents a pound; old potatoes, 55 cents a peck; sweet potatoes, 10 cents; corn, $1 per dozen ears; turnips, 15 to 20 cents; cabbage, 15 cents; cauliflower, 25 to 30 cents; asparagus, 25 cents.

INVITE WAR VETERANS TO CEREMONIES AT NEENAH

Legionnaires and ex-service men of Appleton have been invited to attend the dedication of the new Memorial bridge at Neenah Saturday, by the James A. Hawley post of the American legion of that city. The invitation was received Friday by Harvey Friebe commander of Oney Johnston post. The ceremonies will last from noon to midnight and Governor Fred R. Zimmerman will talk at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. D. J. Kenny, West Bend, state commander of the legion will attend the dedication.

PICNIC TAKES PLACE OF MEETING FOR Y'S MEN

The first of a series of summer picnics of the Y's Men's club will be held Monday afternoon and evening at Potato Point on the Fox river about four miles from Appleton. The club decided not to meet weekly during the summer months, but to hold monthly picnics instead.

The picnic Monday will be a stag party and club members have been asked to invite one or two guests. The Green Bay club was to be the guest of the local group but it was unable to make the trip here. The picnicers will leave Appleton in cars about 5:30 and will return late at night. Softball, horseshoe and other games will be on the entertainment program.

Annual Convention of Association Will Be Held at Colorado This Year

Leaders in financial, industrial and governmental fields will be among the speakers at the twenty-third annual meeting of the International Advertising association in Denver, Colo., June 26 to 29. The Appleton Advertising club probably will be represented at the convention, Wilbur Johnson, president, stated.

"Shop talk" will be confined to the technical group sessions of the organization and its 27 affiliated associations. E. D. Gibbs of Dayton, O., chairman of the program committee, announced. General sessions will be addressed by executives including Frederick W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad; Will H. Hays, director of the motion picture industry; Col. Paul Henderson, former assistant postmaster general and an officer of the National Transport Co., to speak on aviation; and Merlin H. Aylesworth of the National Broadcasting Co. Samuel H. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska and publisher of farm journals, will present the problems of agriculture. Women as consumers and purchasers will be discussed by Emily Newell Blair, writer and vice-chairman of the Democratic national committee. Herbert Hoover and Hubert Work of the President's cabinet, will represent the federal government. Mr. Hoover will talk on economics, and Mr. Work on advertising.

BIJOU WILL BE CLOSED AT END OF THIS MONTH

Frank Cook, formerly proprietor and manager of the New Bijou theatre, now operating the New Gem theatre in Sheboygan, was in Appleton Thursday looking after his interests in the Bijou preparatory to closing the place on June 30 after which the

KINDLINESS NEEDED IN TREATMENT OF INSANE PATIENTS

Mendota Doctor Tells Superintendents to Assure Comfort of Asylum Inmates

The morale of patients in insane asylums was discussed by Dr. T. H. Stemmons of the state hospital at Mendota at Thursday's meeting of the Association of Trustees, Superintendents and Matrons of County Asylums for Chronic Insane in convention here. The talk followed election of officers.

The afternoon was spent at Waukegan and today the delegates are visiting the state reformatory near Green Bay. The convention is to close tonight.

"During the late war we were continually being reminded of the need for improving the morale of the soldier," Dr. Stemmons said in his address. "Everything possible to make the soldier happy and to keep up his spirits was provided in order that he might be in the best fighting condition when the critical moment arrived. Industrial plants today try to make things pleasant and interesting for their employees because they realize a contented man makes a better workman."

"The morale of the psychopathic individual is no less important than that of the normal individual if we are to expect them to improve, or in case there is no possibility of improvement, if we can hope for them to become satisfied and useful individuals within the institution to which they are committed."

"First of all it is generally understood that the wards should be bright and cheerful. The walls should be decorated in colors that are light and harmonious. Furniture, rugs, pictures and all else which might aid in creating a homelike atmosphere are desirable. Sanitation is a cardinal factor and too much stress cannot be made regarding the cleanliness of ward, bath and bed rooms."

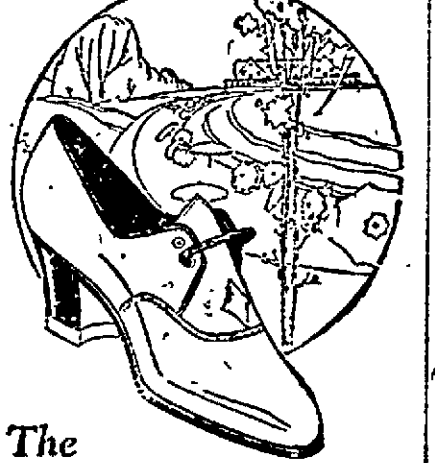

"Of almost equal importance is the arrangement of patients in wards in a manner which is best suited and compatible to their particular psychoses or behavioristic temperaments. There can be nothing more deleterious or disturbing to a quiet patient than the din and bedlam created by excited individuals."

"The physical status of the patient must not be neglected when attempting to improve the morale. Psychiatricists have proven beyond a doubt that physical condition has a direct relationship to the mental attitude. We cannot hope to have our patients in the best possible spirits if they suffer from physical ailments. Encourage the patients to make their little ailments known so that the physician may relieve their difficulties."

"The attitude of the physician, superintendent and attendant, cannot be too friendly and sympathetic. The public, although they occasionally express great horror at the way institutions are managed, usually contents itself by referring to these unfortunate as crazy. People in general need to be educated to understand that an insane patient is sick as truly as if he were suffering from pneumonia or tuberculosis."

"Insane people are placed in institutions because they have committed some anti-social act or because they possess delusions which make them undesirable as citizens. They usually can see no cause for their confinement. They have done nothing wrong according to the dictates of their conscience. They, therefore, naturally, show some resentment at being locked up in an institution. The question comes to them why am I in prison?"

If combined with this detention, the people in charge should be unsympathetic, the feeling of being wronged becomes magnified. It should, therefore, be the aim of everyone in charge of these patients to make them as satisfied and contented as possible. Often just a friendly act or a little special attention on the part of some employee gives them a different outlook on life."

DEFER ACTION ON CONTRACTOR'S BILL

Legislative Committee Withdraws Measure on Advice of State Association

Action on The Master Builder's association of Wisconsin bill No. 488A, which proposed to establish a state board for licensing contractors, was indefinitely postponed by the legislative judiciary committee Thursday at the request of John W. Jungbluth of Milwaukee, president of the state organization. The bill was scheduled for a hearing before the committee at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

President Jungbluth explained that circumstances had arisen which made postponement of the bill advisable. The committee conferred with the president and with the association publicly committee, of which Martin Dold, Appleton contractor is chairman, and decided on postponement.

The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Oscar J. Schmlege, of Appleton. Since the state association decided unanimously in favor of licensing at the recent convention at Green Bay, opposition to the bill has arisen in various parts of the state on the grounds that the proposed bill would open the way for political manipulation and would cause a great deal of red tape.

244 GRADUATES OF RURAL SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Pageant of Life Will Feature
Annual Commencement Program in Appleton Theatre

A pageant entitled "What Men Live By" will feature the rural school commencement exercises at Fischer's Appleton theatre Monday afternoon when 244 eighth grade graduates of Outagamie county rural schools will receive their diplomas. The program will start at 1 o'clock according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Presentation of diplomas will be made by Supt. Meating at the conclusion of the pageant.

Honor students this year are Edwin Hall, Stephentown school; Adeline Schroeder, Cedar Grove school; and Anna May McCarthy, Underhill school.

The class colors are orchid and coral, and the class motto is "We Can Do It."

The pageant will have to do with life. Man finds a varied life, and his days are made up of many activities. It will be pointed out. Four essential activities are prominent, however, as most energy is expended in work, love, play and worship.

"Let one may forget in his pursuit of the necessities of life that there are other essentials, there will be unfolded in the pageant a picture of life as it is lived by most of God's creatures," according to a synopsis.

"If the stage pictures illustrate the joyous side of work, let us recall that work has its pleasurable side, and that work is not drudgery when the workers are happy."

"Work and play are close together—even as close as shown in the scenes that will pass before your eyes. Binding all activities together is the power of love—love of our fellow beings, love of home, love of country. Drop care for the moment, lay aside criticism, and watch with kindly sympathy the picture of typical American life that passes before your eyes."

A scene will direct attention of the audience to the changing movement of the players, who have been selected from the graduates.

THREE EPISODES
The pageant will be presented in three episodes. The first will have to do with work, the second with love, and the last with play.
For the tableaux comprise the first episode. Following is the synopsis:
Tableau 1—Most dearly beloved of the olden time occupations was the blacksmith shop. The smith is shown at his work.
Tableau 2—War was once a regular calling. Soldiers are shown at work and at ease.
Tableau 3—The cotton field had its workers. The spirit of youth knows how to enliven work, so play and fun lessen the drudgery of the fields.

Tableau 4—Our farmers have varied duties and they perform their work efficiently and happily.
By this time the seer, watching man's activities, begins to see the purpose that is driving men to develop the wilderness and establish homes.

The second episode likewise is made up of four tableaux.
Tableau 1—Friendship scene. Around the kindly hearths of the nation are grouped the fathers and mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers. It is they who lend encouragement and help to the workers and rejoice in the success of the children.

Tableau 2—Romantic love. Young couples find enjoyment in the quiet discussion of their own hopes and ambitions.
Tableau 3—Parental love. Men and women work for the homes that their love and homes worth loving give the children fond memories that last throughout their lives.
Tableau 4—Love of country. All of our homes make our country, and to safeguard those homes we need our soldiers, our sailors, and our Red Cross nurses. The love of the cherishes and the children of the United States of America.

Here the seer, after watching men at work and in the pleasures of the home, turns to oversee the lighter pastimes that follow labor.

Three tableaux in the third episode conclude the pageant.
Tableau 1—A Merry Life. A series of selected games.
Tableau 2—Old dances. Dutch dance, Irish lilt, Pop Goes the Weasel, Swedish dance, German Clap dance, Square dance with calls, Virginia reel, Clap dance. We Are the Roman Soldiers.
Tableau 3—Fairies Flower dance. Winding the May Pole.

Fourteen sectional chairmen are in charge of the pageant. Each was responsible for developing the different tableaux. Various sections of the county were assigned to the following chairmen:

WAR DEPARTMENT HAS SCRAPS WITH QUIET NEIGHBORS

Battling Is Unofficial, but They Do Think Names at Each Other

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Any reputation Washington may have for neighborliness is likely to be shattered, one of these days by a sanguine battle between the War Department and those people "across the street" — the National Council for Prevention of War, which is housed in Seventeenth street, opposite the State War and Navy building.

They're not neighborly at all. Battling between these forces is unofficial, of course, and physical conflict is only a possibility in which the peacemakers would have a hard time. But the people of the War Department refer to the National Council crowd as pacifists and the National Council yells back "militarists."

The army officers hint that there is a strong red tinge "across the street," and the peace missionaries think their neighbors are a bunch of swashbucklers.

Frederick J. Libby, the salaried executive secretary of the council, insists that the council moved into its offices "across the street" by merest chance, but you can't persuade the army folks of that and every time an officer gazes out a window on the Seventeenth street side he is filled with disgust or perhaps with anger at the big sign "across the street" and the evidences of activity within.

The army, while it may admit that it has no strong evidence linking the organization with Moscow, believes the council seeks to have this country scrap its army and navy as an object lesson to the rest of the world. This charge was put directly to Mr. Libby by your correspondent.

"You won't find anything like that in anything we have ever said or written," replied the executive secretary. "And we've put out 600,000 pieces of literature since the first of the year."

He accused the army officers of misrepresentation and said that the council must have been confused with the Women's Peace Union or the Women's Peace Society, both of which organizations were refused affiliation with the council because, Libby said, they were too militantly peaceful.

The council's aims, he added, were progressive world organization for peace, a world-wide reduction of armament by international agreement and world-wide education for peace.

While sort of an armistice is in force on Seventeenth street, the military is prosecuting the war in the field, Libby says, through activities of local reserve officers and a new group known as the Military Intelligence Association.

The favorite method of attack lies in attempts to keep peace speakers from speaking on the ground that they are communistic, un-American and so on.

"The War Department gives us a

Demand Storage Charges For Unordered Merchandise

Whether people are responsible for articles sent unrequested by concerns which later try to collect payment for the article, was the question investigated by the Appleton Advertising club in answer to requests from many persons who have been receiving neckties, Christmas greetings, and other merchandise through the mails.

Receivers of such articles are liable if the articles are used for the purpose they are intended without acknowledgment of their receipt, it was found.

Many Appleton people have been receiving packages of neckties or other merchandise valued at about $2. Some times they have returned the articles or have paid for and kept them, but whether they were liable if they did neither has been a question.

Where they did not acknowledge the articles in any way, series of collection letters have followed from the companies sending the merchandise.

The advertising club found that according to the law, people receiving articles not ordered by them, may acknowledge the receipt of the merchandise.

lot of publicity that I couldn't possibly get myself," Libby explains.

Every so often he declares, some high army officer looks "across the street" and becomes sufficiently stirred to write himself a pamphlet on "subversive minorities" or something of the sort.

Libby pointed proudly to such a pamphlet from the pen of Major General Eli A. Heintz, inspector general of the army. This pamphlet gives the National Council for Prevention of War conspicuous mention. Heintz and General Amos A. Fries, head of the chemical warfare service, were his principal press agents, Libby said.

"They believe wars are inevitable and they are afraid of the psychology of the peace movement," he explained.

The county health committee this week authorized Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, to attend the nutrition institute at Milwaukee from June 20 to July 2. Miss Mary Orblson, school nurse, also is expected to attend.

Miss Klein visited 36 homes and 43 patients in May, her monthly report submitted to the committee indicated.

She also called on 18 schools.

"There are scarcely any serious cases of disease in the county now, according to Miss Klein.

FEW FARMERS USING CITY SCALES NOW

Only a few scattering farmers have been using the city scales at the public service building on N. Walnut-st during the past few weeks, according to Alex Robedeau, weighmaster. Most of them are attempting to complete spring seeding, and are confined to work around their homes, it is believed.

English women are beginning to show a preference for the stalwart Airedale over the pampered Pekingese.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

By four o'clock Stephen Churchill had led Cherry, in his amazing direct examination, through a long and utterly frank recital of her adventure the events of that evening which had broken her spirit to the point where she had, the next day, accepted Ralph Cluny's offer of marriage. Jim Lane had broken into a cold sweat of agony as his daughter had told, without dramatics, of his whipping her as a punishment for her escapade with Etteson. Cherry had not spared herself, and Churchill, following the line, he had adopted from the beginning of allowing her to tell the worst about herself, had not attempted to spare her on direct examination.

"You had exchanged love letters with Mr. Etteson?"

"I had," Cherry's voice was low and dragging with shame.

"You were in love with him?"

"No, sir, I was not. I—I was anxious to escape from the entanglements of my life, and Mr. Etteson had offered to get me a job in New York, as a dancer in a musical comedy. I was ambitious, too, and I—I had to flirt with Mr. Etteson to get him to help me."

"Did you have any improper relations with Mr. Etteson?" Churchill asked suddenly.

"No, sir, I did not," Cherry's voice rang out indignantly, utterly convincing.

"Did you intend to reward Mr. Etteson for helping you by becoming his mistress?"

"I did not," Cherry flamed. "He had talked of divorcing his wife to marry me, but I had not promised to marry him in that event. I only wanted to get away."

"Did you have any idea, when you went to Detroit to see Mr. Etteson, that he intended to marry the same woman who was on the trip to New York?" Churchill persisted.

"I did not. I did not even know

VACATIONS NOT THE BUNK!

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

HENCE it is summer again and at the end of the summer than he is now for he will be told that the present era of humanity is one of "personal happiness" or "individual contentment," if you like.

Without going in for Haldane or anyone else, the gentleman in question has unconsciously given us his own history.

Either his occupation throughout the year has been purely recreative or he has loafed, or he is merely posing—in which case we may eliminate him altogether.

The truth is that everyone on earth needs to play and play hard once in a while. He should have such physical and mental change that for the time being he is able to put out of his mind entirely the thing at which he works forty-nine or fifty weeks in the year.

Vacation reading should be of the recreative sort without any apology. If you are going away for change and rest take it from me and leave your "romances" and "ologies" and "courses" at home.

I heard a very learned man recently claim summer resorts unmercifully. Needless to say he has absolutely no use for movies, or novels either. Very Well! He seemed to be happy enough but I thought he looked bad. I, who love both, when I can dig up the piece, have a feeling that his family will be sending me a thank-you card for funeral flowers long before my family sends one to his.

In winter I get up at night and read by yellow candle light, Nietzsche, Schopenhauer, Haldane, and I've tried to follow Steinmetz.

But in summer, quite the other way when I begin to play, I play.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE bunch of Tines up on land of course could not quite understand why Scouty stayed away so long. It worried them a lot. Said Clowry, "He was foolish, quite, to dive in, and out of sight. By now some monster of the sea has caught him, like as not."

Then Coppy answered, "That can't be, for old King Roar rules o'er the sea. I'm sure he wouldn't let a thing take Scouty by surprise. I'm satisfied he's safe down there, but think he should come up for air. But, let's not fret, for he can do it, if he really tries."

"Let's go out on the dock," said one. "Just sitting here is far from fun." So up they jumped and off they ran and reached the dock right quick. "Oh, my, I wish we had a boat," said Coppy. "I would be fun to float around upon the water, for it's looking pretty slick."

Just then the water by the dock swished round a bit and made it rock. The Tines all jumped in surprise. Said one, "What made that splash? I wish that old King Roar were here. I know he'd drive away all fear." And, much to all the crowd's surprise, he promptly got his wish.

'Twas old King Roar who popped in sight, out of the stream with all his might. "Hello there, Tinymites," he said. "Did someone call for me? Perhaps you think that something's wrong and wonder where wee Scouty's gone. Well, there's no need to worry. He's as safe as he can be."

Said Coppy, "We would like to know what's going on there, down below." "All right, I'll tell you," said the king, "sit down, and all be still." And then he told of Scouty's fun, and all the things that he had done. The Tines listened closely, and it gave them quite a thrill.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Shred fresh pineapple, cereal, cream, bacon and liver, potatoes hashed in milk, reheated rolls, a little coffee.

LUNCHEON—Scalloped new cauliflower and tomatoes, toasted cheese sandwiches, lemonade.

DINNER—Roast loin of lamb, spaghetti, new peas, ginger ale salad, bread and raisin cup cakes, milk, coffee.

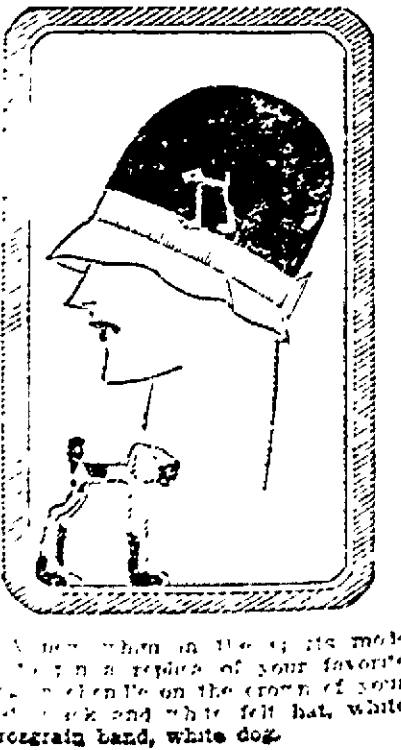

NOT AND RAISIN CUP CAKES
One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup seed, and chopped raisins, 1/2 cup chopped nuts.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar. Add nuts and raisins. Add eggs well beaten and beat mixture hard. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Add vanilla and stir until smooth. Fill individual pans, which have been oiled and floured, half full with the batter and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

The eggs are not beaten separately but they should be beaten until very light with a wheel beater.

Household Hints

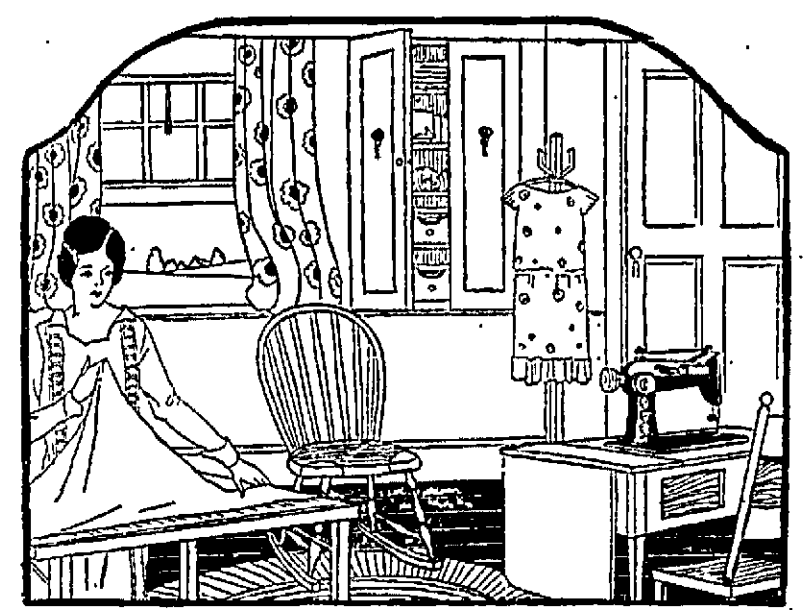

LABOR SAVERS
With a return of tiered skirts, long sleeves and dresser clothing, a sleeve board and a slender skirt board will be worth the purchase.

SOFTENED FLANNELS
When laundering the smart flannel skirt or sleeve jacket, one-half teaspoon glycerine to a gallon of rinse water will keep material soft.

LAUNDERED DRESSES
When washing dresses, should never be hung on the line to dry. Wash in tepid water, and well, dip in slightly luke-warm water and roll in towel. Iron damp.

MOTHER SHOULD HAVE A BRIGHT CONVENTION ROOM IN WHICH SHE MIGHT SEW OR DO WHAT SHE PLEASES

A BRIGHT CORNER OF MOTHER'S WORK ROOM

If father had to receive his patients, or write his sermons, or meet his clients, or conduct his business correspondence in the living room or dining room of the home, he would consider himself a much-abused person and his work certainly would not be very successful. But mother is usually expected to do the family sewing and mending in "any old room," regardless of inconveniences and interruptions.

THAT'S UNFAIR
That sort of an arrangement is unfair. Mother deserves a work-room just as much as father should have his office or study; a room in which she can leave her sewing machine and equipment about, and not have to gather them up, every few hours, to make way for the home-coming family.

COLORS THE THING
Mother's work-room should be bright, pleasant and conveniently arranged. Light-tone color on the walls—especially cream or pale yellow—always makes a room bright. The woodwork may be painted white, or cream, or some pastel shade contrasting with the wall color.

Furniture in dainty, cherry shades will turn a sewing-room into a charming place, indeed! And the various pieces may be decorated with stenciled designs, either conventional or floral, or with decoupage transfers. There should be a cutting-table and straight chair, a low, armless rocker, a hat-tree on which to hang garments still in the making, and of course a sewing machine.

CLOSET AN ASSET
A built-in closet equipped with shelves and drawers is a sewing-room asset. On the outside it should match the woodwork, but a bright, contrasting color on the inside is effective.

PLEASING PICTURES
The plain but bright walls will furnish the right background for a few cheerful, pleasing pictures. Narrow window-drapes of gaily flowered cretonne or chintz will be sufficient contrast, since it is desirable to admit as much daylight as possible. And it is well to have small, cotton rugs, subtle color, combining white, faint gray, palest of beige and pink.

GIRLHOOD TO MOTHERHOOD

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful

Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seventeen years old I had to stay at home from school. I finally had to quit school, I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up one of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirteen years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. Frank Sellers, 510 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

Many girls in the fourth generation are learning that their own personal experiences the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mothers who took it recommend it to their daughters as a dependable medicine.

THE ANSWERS

- 1—"None," contraction of "no one," should be used with the singular verb "was."
 - 2—"He don't" is incorrect. "Don't" is a contraction of "do not." You would not say, "He do not." Say, "He doesn't."
 - 3—"The principal parts of the verb" is incorrect. The principal parts of a verb are the infinitive, the past tense, the past participle, and the present participle.
 - 4—"The hen has lain an egg" is incorrect. It should be, "The hen has laid an egg."
 - 5—"The sentence should read 'Everyone should mind his own business.'"
 - 6—"The Aztec Indians lived in ancient Mexico."
 - 7—"Mavornen means 'my darling.'"
 - 8—"Rome is on the Tiber river."
 - 9—"Colorado river empties into the Gulf of California."
 - 10—"The Eskimos live in houses called igloos."

NEARBY
TOWNSMENZIE FACTORY
TO RESUME WORK
AFTER SHUT-DOWN

Doors Were Closed May 28
as Result of Excessive Price of Leather

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Operations at the Menzie Shoe factory will be resumed Monday, June 14, after being suspended since Saturday, May 28, according to the local superintendent, E. H. Boutman. The shut-down came as the result of the excessive rise in the price of raw hides, which is general throughout the country.

The factory will open its doors Monday morning with the full factory force of 110 hands in employment. New machinery is being received and installed continually. Mr. Boutman said, and the demand and daily output is steadily growing. Since the factory opened for operations in January over eight hundred pairs of shoes have been shipped.

"The leather market is a serious matter now with the manufacturers," Mr. Boutman asserted. "Market prices for raw hides have increased in a short time to a point far above the ordinary."

No report was received at the local plant this week in regard to the condition of the leather market to date.

NEW LONDON
SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The regular meeting of the New London Civic Improvement league will be held at library hall Monday evening. The annual election of officers will be held at this meeting.

The Ladies Aid society of Grace Lutheran church of Sugar Bush will meet Thursday afternoon, June 16, at the home of Mrs. William Thurlk. Plans for the annual picnic will be made.

Emmanuel Lutheran church of East Maple Creek will hold its annual picnic Sunday, June 19. A chicken dinner and supper will be served by the women of the church. The arrangement committee consists of Albert Krug, August Schwandt and August Elker. The picnic will open following the morning services.

TWO PASTORS TO ATTEND
SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—New London will be represented at the annual convention of the Waupaca Sunday school convention which will be held at Iola Friday, June 17, by the Rev. Vincent W. Bell, pastor of the local Methodist church, and the Rev. Henry P. Freeling, pastor of the Congregational church. The Rev. Bell will be in charge of the young people's program and the Rev. Freeling will have charge of the adult program. Others in attendance at the convention who will appear on the program include the Rev. S. B. Lewis, pastor of the Methodist church at Wausau, E. E. Russell of Oshkosh, Mrs. I. B. Weber, children's worker of Milwaukee, and Dr. C. J. Loitz, pastor of the First Methodist church at Fond du Lac.

HOLD FUNERAL RITES
FOR LORETTA ALLEN

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Funeral services for Loretta Allen, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, were conducted Friday morning at 9:30 from Catholic church here by the Rev. Otto Rohle. Interment was made in the local Catholic cemetery. Active bearers included Robert Polak, Arthur Hoffmann, Vincent Polak, Norbert Froehner, Alvin Pratt and Jack Denke. Honorary pallbearers were Genevieve Schenck, June Brann, Betty Reaser, Helen Ryan, Margaret Hippler and Dorothy Kott.

The child died as a result of injuries sustained as a result of a fall from the swing on the lawn. In falling from the swing the child fractured the intestines causing bowel paralysis. She died at a local clinic.

FIRE DESTROYS CAR ON FARM AT BLACK CREEK

Special to Post-Crescent
Black Creek—An automobile sedan, owned by George Welch, was completely destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Welch stays with his brother-in-law, Raymond Greese, route 1, and had come home two hours previously. The car was left standing in the yard. Mrs. Greese noticed an odor from rubber and upon investigation discovered the car in flames. No insurance was carried. It is thought there probably was a short circuit in the car.

A 12-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Uhlenbruch, route 1, was slightly injured Tuesday morning when she was thrown off the wagon at the Black Creek Cooperative Creamery company. The horse became frightened on Main-st and ran to the creamery, turned around and stopped. In making the turn the milk cans were thrown off the wagon and the girl thrown out. The wagon was badly damaged.

COUNTY DOES NOT HAVE TO BUY GUN FOR ITS SHERIFF

Ashtland—(P)—If you want to be a sheriff in Wisconsin you'll have to buy a gun.

The county in which you seek to enforce the law has no legal authority to purchase you the "iron." An opinion from the attorney general, John W. Reynolds, sent to C. Arthur Johnson, district attorney here, says:

"County boards have no power or authority to furnish fire arms and similar equipment for sheriffs and persons appointed and deputized by them to enforce the criminal laws of the state."

Previous opinions had been rendered that the counties had no vigilante groups or posse, but authority to purchase arms for vigilante groups or posse, but none are known of here declaring that the county does not have to buy its chief law officer his "gat."

Congratulatory telegrams, to Captain Charles Lindbergh on his arrival in the United States, may be sent by Western Union Telegraph and Postal Telegraph Cable Co. at a special rate, it has been announced. The companies have anticipated a nation wide desire to express congratulations to the man who made the epochal flight from New York to Paris.

Messages will be delivered on decorated message blanks commemorative of the pilot's flight.

The United States air mail service announced last week that air mail letters would be delivered to the floor at Washington immediately after his arrival.

Roles are Emile Chautard, Carl Miller, Enrique Acosta, Ellen Winston, Albert J. Smith and Joseph Girard.

Stunts of unusual daring and several hand to hand battles of unusual realism help to make "Whispering Sage" a perfect thriller and nerve tonic, while humor of superlative kind provokes considerable laughter at the first showing.

A fine picture none should miss.

INDICT FORMER CHIEF

Former Chief of Police Lengel of Canton, O., is the fifth man to be indicted in connection with the murder of Don Mallett, crusading editor. Lengel is shown shielding his face as he was being taken up the jail steps by Sheriff Ed Gibson. Below is a close-up of the former chief, whose arrest followed the story told by Floyd Strenberger, former detective. Pat McDermott, Ben Rudner and Strenberger have been sentenced to life imprisonment, while Louis Mazer, who was the first to "confess," awaits trial.

ATTEMPT TO MAKE U TURN NEARLY CAUSES ACCIDENT

Autoists and pedestrians were thrilled and endangered about 8 o'clock Friday morning when a woman driving a sedan bearing license number 100-5222 attempted to make a "U" turn a few feet east of the Walnut-st intersection. The woman, it is said, started to make the turn with out a warning signal and another car going in the same direction was forced to jump the curb on the opposite side of the street to avoid a collision. The woman driver also was forced near the curb and then she proceeded to berate the other driver.

SCHNEIDER INVITED TO INTRODUCE DARROW

Congressman George J. Schneider of Appleton has been invited to introduce Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer of Chicago, at a public meeting at the Columbus club at Green Bay, Thursday evening, June 16. Mr. Darrow is to speak on Important National Problems.

"ROUGH HOUSE ROSIE"

A FAST MOVING FARCE Dynamic Clara Bow has hit the bell again—hit it with a force that kept last night's audience at the Fischer Theatre entranced, thrilled and laughing from start to finish in her newest Paramount picture "Rough House Rosie." "Rough House Rosie" is one of those all too infrequent photoplays that set out to be nothing more or less than one hundred per cent entertainment and accomplish their purpose.

This Saturday Evening Post story by Nunnally Johnson opens with a beach carnival, proceeds to a gay cabaret with Clara leading her "Six Roughnecks" in a novel little dance, moves to a fashionable country club and a gay party of the upper social set and closes with a rousing fight, as Clara at the ringside urges her big boy friend, Joe Hennessey, on to victory and the middleweight championship. It's a great picture, a great show and one that's well worth seeing twice.

Lead roles, Arthur Housman, Doris Hill, John Miljan, Douglas Gilmore and Henry Kolker head the supporting cast and are ideally placed in their roles. Frank Strayer directed. Max Marcin made the clever adaptation. The screen play was written by Louise Long and Ethel Doherty.

"WHISPERING SAGE"

If you want an entertainment that will tingle every nerve with excitement, when you are not laughing heartily at the many humorous predicaments of the hero, see Buck Jones in "Whispering Sage" at the New Bijou today and Saturday.

Of course there is Buck Jones, the hard riding, square shooting typical Western cowboy, many of whose daring deeds on the screen he has duplicated in real life. Whimsical, smiling and with a fine sense of humor, the performance of his role is highly convincing. Then there is Natalie Joyce, in the role of Mercedes, the Spanish beauty, with whom Buck falls in love. Not only is she a young woman of unusual charm, but a finished actress as well. Others in the more important roles are Emile Chautard, Carl Miller, Enrique Acosta, Ellen Winston, Albert J. Smith and Joseph Girard.

A fine picture none should miss.

PLUMBING COMPANY WILL MOVE OFFICE TO NEW LOCATION

Removal Will Be Made by
Ryan and Long to 306 W.
College-ave on July 1

Ryan and Long Plumbing company, 206 W. College-ave, are making plans to move its headquarters July 1 from the present location to 306 W. College-ave. This latter building formerly was occupied by the Sager-Trensdon Mortuary, which has purchased a building on N. Oneida-st. The building to be vacated by Ryan and Long is owned by the First National bank, which plans to use the space for an addition to the bank, according to M. D. Smith, bank official. For the present, however, the building will be rented again.

Ryan and Long started business in 1898 in the Whedon building, but moved in 1899 to 112 S. Oneida-st. The business was continued there until 1917 when the move to the present location on W. College-ave was made. Last year the company purchased the building at 306 W. College-ave to protect themselves in case the bank decided to build on short notice.

DRINKING WATER HEALTH BUILDER

Use Is One of Cheapest and Most Effective Means of Combating Disease

Advocacy of drinking water as the cheapest and most effective means of preventing illness is contained in a letter received by the chamber of commerce from the General Health Bureau for Public Education in Disease Prevention, New York city. The letter asks officers of the local chamber to convey the message to members of the organization and others.

In studying means of preventing illness, particularly in manufacturing plants and offices where the danger of contagion is great, water is found to be the cheapest and most effective means, but not fully appreciated, the letter said. Neglect of drinking water also causes waste and accidents. The National Safety council has instituted among its employees the practice of serving a water ration every hour.

LOAN AGENTS MEET TO DISCUSS LAND VALUES

Madison—(U)—An intensive examination of land values and methods of appraising land was made here this week by nearly 50 farm loan agents of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, holding a session of their annual convention at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Members of the agricultural staff of the university discussed problems pertinent in the field of the farm loan representatives after which a tour was made of the university farm. In discussing the factors affecting land values, Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture, pointed out the wide differences existing in freight rates of farm products. Successful agriculture, he maintained, must in the future be planned in accordance with methods and cost of transportation. Instead of shipping hay crops long distances, farmers in some sections of the country may secure better results by feeding the hay to live stock and then marketing the animals.

BECK WINS HONORS IN STATE DRAMA CONTEST

Warren Beck, instructor in English at Lawrence college, has been awarded first place in a state contest sponsored by the Drama League of America with a one act play entitled "The Fixed Canon." It will be entered as the Wisconsin play in a national contest the league is conducting. The theme of the play involves certain aspects of suicide.

AIR MAIL LETTERS FOR "LINDY" ARE FEW HERE

Air mail letters congratulating Captain Charles Lindbergh on his record non-stop flight from New York to Paris are slow in coming to the Appleton postoffice to be delivered to the flyer on his arrival in Washington, D.C., it is reported. President Coolidge suggested that the reception in honor of the former air-mail pilot could be made nationwide by congratulatory letters from friends and admirers throughout the country. Special arrangements will be made to carry the letters to Washington by air mail. A fee of 10 cents is charged on air mail letters weighing a half ounce or less.

Reports from nearby cities and towns give larger numbers of congratulatory letters for Lindbergh than that from the local postoffice. The postal department in Washington aimed to have thousands of letters from people in the United States, to erect the flyer.

BOARD WILL STUDY ORDINANCE ON DOGS

Measure Introduced by Alderman
Vogt Will Be Considered
by Committee

An ordinance proposing to abate the tramp dog nuisance will be considered by the ordinance committee of the common council next week. The measure was introduced at the last council meeting by Alderman Phillip Vogt of the Sixth ward and was referred to the committee for investigation. The ordinance would enforce dog owners to keep their pets tied from May 1 to Sept. 1. A disregard of the ordinance would be termed a misdemeanor under the provision and the offender would be subject to a fine of not less than $1 and not more than $5.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT OF "Y" ADDS NEW MEMBERS

Thirty-seven new members have been added to the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. for the summer, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. Special rates are in force for the three-month period and many boys who are too busy during the winter to join the association, take advantage of the summer period. All new members have joined since June 1. Mr. Pugh hopes to have a summer club of 75 before the expiration of June.

SPECIAL SUMMER TRAIN IS PUT ON BY SOO LINE

The "Mountaineer," a Soo Line special summer train, started operating Sunday from Chicago to the Pacific coast. It does not pass through Appleton, but passengers make connections at Neenah where the Mountaineer stops at 3:12 every morning on its way to Minneapolis and St. Paul. No passenger will be taken at Neenah unless a ticket is purchased for the twin cities or beyond. The Mountaineer will be equipped with sleeping cars, parlor cars, observation car and baggage cars. As the number of passengers increases, more cars will be added.

DESPAIRED OF EVER HAVING GOOD COMPLEXION

Pimples relieved after trying well known remedy

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 31—"My skin had been very clear up to a while ago when blackheads and then pimples developed. They spread rapidly and I was terribly annoyed. I used several suggested remedies without good results, and was disgusted and just ready to give up hope of ever having a good complexion again when I saw one of your advertisements. At the same time, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Ointment so I began to use them. After a few applications my trouble was relieved, and I now keep these products always on hand. They are so soothing and refreshing and I find the ointment so good for the scalp and for chapped hands." (Signed) Miss Carmel De Felice, E. 1723 Third Avenue.

Ask your druggist for Resinol Soap and Ointment.

Show Respect For Flag, Plea Of War Veterans

Not more than half of the citizens of Appleton who observe patriotic holidays by watching "the parade go by" show proper respect for the flag, usually because of carelessness, according to a member of Charles O. Baer camp, "Spanish-American War veterans, who marched in the Memorial day parade. Many men keep their heads covered as the national emblem is carried past and both men and women fail to stand quietly.

20 WORKING PERMITS ARE ISSUED DAILY

Between 18 and 20 permits were issued every day this week to boys and girls at Appleton Vocational school. Most of the permits were given to boys who plan to work as caddies during the summer. Several were granted to boys who have jobs in factories or stores. All boys and girls under 17 years of age must have a permit to work.

Permits can be secured at the vocational school between 8:30 and 11:30 every morning except Saturday and Sunday.

While this is not especially noticeable from the sidewalk, marchers notice it frequently. One group of boys sat on the porch of a house with their chairs tilted back and feet on the porch railing, smoking cigarettes and conversing while the banner was borne past. However, since the war there has been less of the disrespect than before, as many of the boys and men have learned respect for the flag by fighting for it. It was pointed out.

ABANDON PLANS TO HOLD L'FOLLETTE MEMORIAL SERVICE

League Unable to Secure
Prominent Speaker, Secretary Reports

Plans for a memorial service in honor of the late Senator R. M. La Follette on his birthday anniversary, June 14, have been abandoned by the executive committee of the Farmer, Labor and Progressive League of Outagamie-co, because it was unable to secure a speaker of national reputation to make the principal address. Every effort was made to obtain a suitable speaker but due to the short time between the date the arrangements were started and the event, the committee decided to abandon plans for this year, according to Samuel Sigman, secretary of the association.

The committee first invited Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska to speak but due to another engagement he was unable to do so. Efforts were then made to secure President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin but commencement at Madison prevented him from accepting. Hon. Henry Allen Cooper, congressman from the First district was invited to speak but he also had another engagement. Friends of the late senator have been urged by the committee to make a pilgrimage to his grave at Madison and participate in the services to be held there June 14, which also is Flag day. The state legislature recently adopted a resolution paying honor to the late senator by resolving to take part in the memorial exercises at his grave.

Duluth Lays 969,689 Square Yards of Concrete Pavements

Several years ago Duluth, Minnesota, began to pave streets with concrete. It has continued to do so every year since.

During 1924 and 1925 street paving awards were 100% concrete, and Duluth now has 969,689 square yards of this permanent pavement.

Property owners say that concrete is ideal for fine residential streets, as well as in the business districts, where heavy grinding traffic soon wears out other pavements.

They have found that concrete requires practically no maintenance, that it is safe to drive on, wet or dry, and that the extreme range of temperature common in Duluth has no effect on its durability.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Farmer Freed Of Rheumatism, Can Now Work Without Pain

Route No. 1 citizen loud in praise of Drecto since it put an end to his suffering.

The widespread popularity now enjoyed by Drecto has come strictly through merit. Thousands of people today owe their present good health to this great herbal remedy so successfully introduced by the Drecto Expert at Schilintz Bros. Drug Store. It possesses great powers to banish rheumatism, relieve stomach disorders, overcome constipation, arouses a sluggish liver and puts the entire system in good condition.

Mr. William Peterson, a well-known farmer living on R. F. D. No. 1, Appleton, Wis. says: "I have suffered off and on for several years with rheumatism and neuritis in my right shoulder and arm and no matter what I tried nothing ever seemed to cure it. Some medicines gave me temporary relief but soon the pains came back again worse than ever. This trouble interfered seriously with my work on the farm for every once-in-a-while I would have to quit work. It made me nervous, I lost sleep and rest and became rundown in general.

"Several months ago I gave Drecto a trial and it promptly put an end to all the stiffness and pains in my joints and muscles, quieted my nerves, enabled me to sleep at night and made me feel like another man in every way. Although it has now been some time since I took my last dose of Drecto none of my troubles have returned and I am convinced that I have at last secured permanent relief from my suffering."

Drecto is being specially introduced by Schilintz Bros. Downtown Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere.

RECREATION STUDY WILL BE CONDUCTED BY U. S. DIVISION

Course Will Be Offered at Madison from July 6 to 12,
Inclusive

The second annual short course in community recreation leadership will be given by the University Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin at Madison from July 6 to 12. Other cooperating agencies assisting in conducting the school are Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, University of Wisconsin Department of Physical Education, and Wisconsin Parent-Teacher association.

The course is designed for local community leaders interested in community recreation, school teachers, ministers, and others desirous of improving their own ability. It gives the leaders a chance to widen their knowledge of community recreation methods and to discuss with others, problems of policy and technique arising in any locality. The course of study is developed so as to provide definite instruction and intensive discussion.

It is planned so that all those enrolled will be enabled to attend every meeting. There will be nine separate meetings which will include lectures, discussions and demonstrations. They are:

Program making. Organization of community recreation; play production; social games and dances; community music; organization for recreation in rural communities; recreation leadership; play and the exceptional child; community recreation.

Special lectures which will not interfere with the general course also have been arranged. A fee of $3 covering the cost of registration is the only expense. Instructors in charge of the various classes are chosen because of their recognized success in their fields.

Those especially invited to enroll are: Employed recreation leaders; program chairmen of organizations; school teachers, limited to not more than two from a community; public officials and board members who administer recreation programs; members of religious organizations, as Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and K. of C., limited to not more than two from an organization; volunteer leaders devoting regular time to recreation leadership.

LOOS WILL ATTEND HARNESS MEETING

Annual Convention of Association Will Be Held at Madison Next Week

George L. Loos, proprietor of a harness shop at 128 N. Appleton-st., will be the only local man to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Harness Manufacturers and Leather Goods Dealers association at the Park hotel, Madison, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The program opens at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning with registration of delegates and accessory trades.

Prof. J. G. Fuller of the animal husbandry department at the university and W. D. Curtis of the Curtis-Dexter company will be the principal speakers. Henry Groth, Milwaukee, president of the association, will preside at all sessions, and L. A. Geffert, Madison, vice president, is chairman of the committee in charge of the program.

The women's program will be in charge of Mrs. L. A. Geffert and Mrs. Carl F. Hoebel, both of Madison.

The program:

Jerusalem Is Rapidly Becoming Modernized

BY REV. S. G. RUEGG

Jerusalem is being modernized. Probably this should be qualified by saying that the city without walls is under the sway of the mogul of progress and simply cannot resist the lure of its arresting qualities. The ancient town within the walls is much the same. Modernization has its drawbacks; it disturbs landmarks, customs, traditions and scraps many things that tell the story of a heroic past.

No city is better known than Jerusalem. In the midst of this world metropolis, Jews, Christians and Mohammedans alike all love the place. On Mt. Moriah Abraham offered his son, Isaac, Solomon's temple once stood on it, and the Mosque of Omar now occupies the site. The ancient order of Free and Accepted Masons are interested in this spot.

One often wonders how the ancients came to choose such a spot like a big wart on the top of the range of Judean hills. It seems to be thrust up a trifle over 2,500 feet above sea level with the Dead Sea 1,300 feet below sea level and that in sight on a clear day from Mount Olives. The city itself was besieged 26 times, captured 21 times, and completely demolished 12 times. Its history is one vast monotonous chronicle of invasion and conquest in which Creeds, Color and Caste simply held high carnival. It never had political unity and it has always been a hot bed of intrigue, of conspiracy of rivalry. It was the capital of Palestine, Babylonia, Media, Persia, Macedonia, Syria, Crusaders, Turks and now it is in the hands of the mightiest empire which boasts that the sun never sets on its domain.

CALL CITY "EL KUTS"

The Arabs call Jerusalem "El Kuts," the holy city, and the word implies harmony and order; in fact, in the past, poets, priests, pastors and popes have vied in speaking of the spot as the great emblem of eternal harmony and even the seer in the book of Revelation foretells of the New Jerusalem coming down out of heaven, prophetic of the world to be where righteousness reigneth and peace dwells. It seems so shocking to find that quarrels and fights are modern and seem to occur even now with such a drastic vigor. Even at Bethlehem in the cave or chapel where Christ was born a soldier stands at attention all the time and it seems absolutely absurd to have a man of force at the cradle where the Prince of Peace appeared. No wonder Indians, Chinese and Japanese sneer at our type of Christianity that quarrels just because we have not seen that there can be diversity of gifts in the midst of unity just as there are many flowers and trees in one Creator.

WALL SURROUNDS CITY
Jerusalem proper covers 240 acres and is surrounded with a wall which is an irregular quadrangle and averages 33 feet in height. The wall is 2 1/2 miles long and you can walk around it, a good tramp to take, to note the bulwark. This does not include the southern half of Mt. Zion or the Spur of Ophel. These walls were built by Sultan Suleiman, 1541-1542 A. D., and are therefore very new in comparison to a remnant of Solomon's wall which you find inside of the city and where the Jews gather especially on Friday to pray. The spot is known as the Walling Place where they weep, sing the psalms and read devoutly, offering their oblation to Jehovah that He might forgive their transgressions and restore the former glory of their beloved town.

There are 34 towers and eight gates in the wall and when you are lost in the city the best way to do is to go till you strike a gate and then look at your map and get the tour for you are never more than half a mile away from any one section of the wall. The Damascus Gate is on the north side and was built in the twelfth century. The Jaffa Gate has been down since the Turks took it away in 1598 when the German emperor made his famous visit here. Carriages and automobiles go through this gate and can "carry on" two blocks but otherwise there is no place for any vehicles in all the ancient city.

STREETS ARE NARROW
The streets are all narrow and as the city is "set on a hill and cannot be hid" the streets are often full of steps and the first thing you learn is to dodge donkeys and camels that are loaded with hay, stone or provisions. The passage ways in some places are so narrow that there is little room to squeeze through when these pack-animals come. Often the houses are built over the street and the dark passages are full of strange smells. You see there is no sewerage system in such a rocky place. While we were there it rained for five days, something it had not done in six months, and the populace was very happy because they get their water supply this way which is kept in cisterns. The English are planning a new system but any one who has ever been here knows what a gigantic engineering problem it is to get any sort of a system through nothing but rocks plus the rock of traditionalism where everybody reveres every square foot and fears some sacred dust will be disturbed if the nuisance of a plumber appears. It makes the streets smelly and you are in constant danger of sliding down.

The city is full of bazars that are small and often the owner just sits on a stool and watches for whatever you want right around him. There are two or three larger markets where the vegetables appear and then some restaurants where cooking is done in the open. Oranges were quite plentiful, all sorts of nuts and seeds are sold, sugar comes from Belgium and Czechoslovakia, here and there American shaving soap and other American toilet articles appear.

The trades are all represented like the tinner, the cabinet maker, the shoe maker, the tailor, and lately they have added a class of men who make foot wear out of old rubber tires, cut the rubber roughly and put strings on them and sell the pair for 15 cents. The streets are generally jammed full of people and the American is spied out by guides who attach themselves to you like leeches. Often they are mere boys who make a handsome living that way because Americans are terrible tipsters and go way beyond any other nationality and we do not like this economic itch and have a hard time scratching when it takes a bite come happily or painfully aware that it is unexpected.

GRAT CONGLOMERATION
Here then in the heart of this world city you have a great conglomeration, a city "built compact together whether the tribes go up." You have the natives in their wonderful costumes, the Jerusalem Jew with his curly tangle of hair hanging down between his ear and nose, you have synagogues, mosques, minarets, towers, courtyards, hospitals, you have dark courtyards and bracketed windows, a bazzar of antiquities and curiosities with scores of narrow lanes; there are convents and housing places for Moslem pilgrims with Jewish quarters, Moslem quarters and Christian quarters with 62,578 people, of whom, according to the 1925 census, there are 33,911 Jews, 14,000 Christians and 13,413 Moslems. The Latin church has 3,500 adherents in the city. They revere especially the Via Dolorosa, the pathway where Christ walked on the way to Calvary, and it runs in a zigzag fashion through the town beginning at St. Stephen's gate and ending at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. There are ten stations of the cross, the last four are in the church mentioned. This street has been changed through the uprisings of all the centuries and it is doubtful if it even approximately indicates where Christ walked; but as Father Newton of Detroit said to me: "It matters not about the exact spot; the main thing is to know that this is where Christ walked and that he went to Calvary to die for humanity, which is the thing that counts."

There are a good number of people who come to Jerusalem and are disillusioned. In a previous story it was indicated that if you want to get a good picture of the Holy Land you must go to Galilee where you have a section in its pristine glory. It was in Galilee that Christ did his teaching and you still have the picturesque lake of Galilee, the mountains, the flowers, the little villages, while at Jerusalem man has invaded everything.

MUCH IS TAWDRY
We would not be critical of any one's religious convictions or their view point about these places but much that you see in Jerusalem is tawdry and inelegant. When we were here some years ago the Garden of Gethsemane was largely in the open; the olive trees purporting to be 2,000 years old were there surrounded with beautiful flowers. Now they have built over a portion of it, a handsome church edifice, covered the stone where the disciples are supposed to have slept and where Judas kissed the Master.

This is the tendency everywhere in Jerusalem. The places are capitalized and even money is made out of them. They show you a tree where Judas hanged himself. You pay a fee to see that. It is on the north side of the city. Then they show you another one on the south side of the same nature and you pay another fee. In Bethlehem they show you a stone where Mary stood when she mounted the donkey and went to Egypt with the baby Christ. The city and surroundings is just full of all this sort of thing and some people go away from here losing their faith just because they have not learned to distinguish between what is outward and what is inward, between spiritual and literal. Much of our religion is kindergarten; some people need a lot of symbols, short cut devices to lead them to truth. Others are so conscious of God's presence, say for example the Pilgrim fathers, that they demolished pictures, crosses, altars and everything that would in anywise interfere with their religious intensity that knocked all visible props from under their feet.

To see modern Jerusalem you go outside of the city walls. The first thing you see there is the American automobile, bobbed hair, silk stockings and short dresses. That may seem an odd combination but you become happily or painfully aware that you are not where the prophets of old once scourged their hearers to repentance with the lash of their powerful words and phrases.

RESEMBLES AMERICA
Everywhere there are life shops and American tires and machines predominate. In Cairo this is not true. There the English machines predominate. The Buick is the popular high priced car in Jerusalem and the Ford car the cheaper priced. The buses are all equipped with Ford engines and they rush the people to Jericho, to the Dead Sea, to Bethlehem, to Jaffa and even way north to Nazareth and Damascus. They are not kept up well and are dilapidated but they run and that is the main thing. The steam cooler is making roads everywhere outside of the city and it has been built up tremendously. One marvels at the sites pre-empted. Telephone and light wires run everywhere and a complete telephone system has been installed since I was here.

The streets outside are wide and on Friday and Saturday, the two great holidays for Mohammedans and Jews, the streets are jammed full of pedestrians. That is the great sport for these good people and you look down on the streets from the hills and think there is a vast procession going to some funeral because they are so quiet and orderly, but they are not going anywhere, just exercising, greeting each other and making merry on the day assigned by their religion. It is practically impossible to get through the crowds with automobile which number twenty and thirty thousand when they are on dress parade.

SEE MODERN BANKS
Modern banks have been built, the American express company has an office, and many of the sites are pre-empted by various nationalities. The Russians have a large compound, so the French and the Germans too. The Germans have a fine work, a Syrian orphan home, run by Dr. Theodor Schneller. His father began it 60 years ago and the grandson is now taking over the home which is an industrial institution where the boys learn carpentry, brick making, printing and what not. Dr. Schneller was so highly respected during the war that the English permitted him to remain, the only German that remained in the city. The home was used by the Near East Relief until here three years ago when the British government gave it back to the original promoters.

We have an American colony also on the Damascus road. It was founded by Horatio Spafford in 1881 with 14 people. Spafford was a Chicago lawyer who lost most of his fortune in 1873 during the panic. Then he sent his wife and four daughters to France and on the ocean a French liner ran into the American ship and the daughters were all drowned and his wife was the only one saved. She telegraphed from Havre: "I am saved but saved alone. What shall I do?" In that hour when reason nearly left the throne, Spafford sat down and wrote a hymn which is sung in a good number of churches. It is entitled: "When Peace like a River." The chorus reads: "It is well with my soul."

Spafford organized the colony along communistic lines and it is somewhat communistic now with about ninety souls, a common kitchen and dining room. Once they had a hard time financially as they came here to wait for the coming of the Lord, but now they have become great traders and have their stores near the Jaffa gate and sell rice, pictures, antiques. They are flourishing but retain their intense religious fervor. Spafford's son is the leading spirit now. They take in guests, too, and Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, the most noted preacher in America, was a guest here for two months.

He gathered all his material for the articles now running in the "Ladies Home Journal" and we asked them about Fosdick. Now that the theology of the American colony is as far apart as Oshkosh is from Mandalay, Burma, but they all testified of the wonderful loyalty of Fosdick to his Lord and Master and said he was a prince with God and among his fellow men.

NO PROTESTANT CENTER
Jerusalem has no outstanding Protestant center in the city. While all other confessions have their shrines, the Protestant church has no meeting place. It is true the Episcopalians have St. George's Cathedral, but it is rather exclusive. Now comes Mr. A. C. Harle, a prominent American, M. C. A. man, who has a vision for a shrine that shall embody the conceptions of Protestantism in this world city. Providentially, his problem has not been one of funds, for a noted Englishman of wealth has given a gift and withheld his name. He will finance anything that Harle, with a big heart, will build. Another person has given a $35,000 pipe organ so you can imagine what this will mean for ancient Jerusalem.

We saw the site of eight acres right on the road to Bethlehem, a site larger than the government site where the authorities are going to build their capitol. The two are near each other and it will be right above the Hinnom valley with a gorgeous view of the city. The plans have been in the course of development for three years. Everything on the building will be symbolic. Nothing so far has been written about it but Mr. Harle gave me some interesting data. For example they will have 66 trees on the grounds emblematic of the 66 books of the bible. The trees will all be Palestine trees, of course. The gymnasium will have seven windows which is the great scriptural number, a combination of earthly and heavenly perfection.

PLANS FOR BUILDING
In the vestibule of the main building will be the Star of Bethlehem. On the tower erected to the glory of Christ there will be four emblems, an eagle, an ox, a man, and a lion, according to the symbolism of Ezekiel. The frieze will have the twelve apostles. The tower will have 34 bells. The dome will be green colored with gold flowers in the field. The entrance will be arched with the Vine. On it will be the text: "His name shall be called"

Wonderful, Counsellor, Almighty God Everlasting Father and Prince of Peace."

The top of the tower will have the inscription: "Wherever Jesus walked, is Holy Ground." There will be an upper room for prayer, there will be a corner of silence for prayer only. In the front there will be a pulpit for open air meetings; the rear will be the athletic field and tennis courts. There will be special rooms for missionaries and travelers who want to spend some time in Palestine and a modern cafeteria will be in operation. A great library will be installed. It will contain all the books ever written about Christ as far as they are obtainable. Already they have a few thousand of them now in their temporary quarters.

Every feature of the bible or bible lands will be embodied in the building but in such a way as not to intrude itself. It will be there for the thoughtful person to discover. There will be all sorts of office rooms and assembly places and it will probably be the most unique Y. M. C. A. building ever erected in the world. The temporary quarters are visited by Jews and Mohammedans and we found over half of the people that attended the Sunday afternoon lecture and demonstration on the Ministry of Music were non-Christians.

Jerusalem is being modernized. Under English rule she is getting sanitation, good street, good government and though the problem of steering among the various creeds and nationalities is of the most acute kind, yet the universal testimony of the intelligent is that blessings are coming to this wonderful city. It has not known for hundreds of years.

Jerusalem, Palestine.

This Is Ideal Weather for Painting

These are the days when home lovers find their greatest joy in re-newing and refinishing everything inside and outside the home.

Home-owners who do their own painting and varnishing around the house find much satisfaction in using Moore's Paints and Varnishes because of its spreading qualities and ease in applying the materials.

May we ask you as home owners to seriously consider in which of the following groups you would class yourselves. FIRST—those who take considerable pride in the appearance of their homes, both interior and exterior, the same being reflected in the beautiful and durable finish obtained by the use of high grade, reputable products. SECOND—those who are continually cursing themselves because of the poor condition of the finish on their home due to their use of inferior products. Experimenting with these paints has proved costly when it came to repainting and did not give lasting satisfaction.

Home-owners in the first group leave the trial and error method of buying paints to others and demand quality goods that will give lasting durability and entire satisfaction.

In every case by the use of Moore's Paints you will achieve results that are pleasing, thorough and lasting results that will safeguard your house and your family, and will adequately represent you in the community as you wish to be represented.

We carry a complete line of paints and varnishes to supply your needs.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

by Anne Austin

THIS HAS HAPPENED

T. Q. CURTIS, millionaire department store owner, takes three girls from his establishment into his home as his wards for one year, because he wants to help them further ambitions each has expressed. BILLY WELLS, ambitious to be a concert violinist, is the only one of the three that is sincere. The other two—NYDA ROMAN and WINNIE SHELTON—lie to enjoy T. Q.'s generosity.

Billy is infatuated with DAL ROMAN, nephew of MRS. MEADOWS, the hostess, and is deeply grieved to learn he is "playing" both her and Winnie Shelton. The girls learn, unknown to T. Q., that he intends to adopt one of them when the year is up and Nyda and Winnie institute a series of intrigues to gain his affection. Billy, disgusted with the conflict, and under the maddening spell of her infatuation, neglects her violin. T. Q. fits a kindergarten room in his home for Nyda, who has a naturally prodigious talent. When he learns of her unkind treatment to the children under her care, he is deeply hurt. He decides the girl needs a chance and takes them to Europe for a time. They return after four months and resume the old life of secret intrigue and intrigue. Billy's interest in her music revives. Slightly, T. Q. talks with Billy about his son, CLAY, who has disinherited himself and is living with Billy's mother in a poor part of town, working in a factory by day and writing music at night. On their return, they find the whole town in an amazing upheaval over a Hindu fortune teller, RALPH TRUMAN and Dal Romaine offer to take Billy and Nyda to him. Ralph is dubious of the man and says he believes he has an accomplice who is on the "inside" of society in the town. Billy goes first to the Hindu's private room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI

The enchantment of that black draped room quietly had its way with Billy Wells. The deep voice of the Hindu, speaking English with a suave Oxford accent, doted on and on, lulling to sleep the last protest of her sturdy American spirit. "I see you—child of destiny—on the eve of a great adventure. I see you surrounded by enemies who ceaselessly plot against you. The figures grow clear—a woman with hair like midnight and a heart as black as another woman, with hair like moonlight, and blue eyes as cold and cruel as her small, scheming mouth."

Billy's cold fingers gripped the velvet-covered edge of the table. "But I see you triumphing over your enemies," the suave, low voice droned on. "I see riches and power for you."

"When?" Billy breathed.

"The time is not clear—no, wait—four months, six months at most. I see it clearly now. You will be elevated to a position of great wealth and social power. I see a man, an old man, his hands filled with gifts for you."

Billy's blood ran cold. How could he possibly know about the secret contest for old T. Q.'s name and fortune?

"I see fame and adulation of the multitude for you—millions of hands clapping, clapping."

"Then I will be a great violinist!" Billy cried out ecstatically.

The seer's eyes and teeth glittered with a pleased smile. "Ah yes, but I see you, child of destiny, daughter of India turning your back upon the empty worship of the multitude and crossing the seas to your true home. And with you I see a man, a man, the figure grows clear, clearer."

He bent lower over the cloudy crystal, while Billy crushed her mouth with her knuckles to keep from crying out at him to hurry. "A dark, thin figure with the eyes of a mystic. He too is clairvoyant. His soul is the mate of your soul, the halves of two spheres."

leaving you like this is almost worse than death. Dal."

The next morning when she went down to the late Sunday breakfast, heavy-eyed with lack of sleep, she found Nyda and Winnie at the table, the brunet and blond heads bent over a newspaper, uttering excited exclamations of astonishment and incredulity, and, on the part of Nyda, a fierce exultation.

"Who's eloped or got a divorce?" Billy demanded.

"Nimir Sadh has been exposed and driven out of town!" Nyda exulted.

"It's all here, about how they got the goods on him and his accomplice—" willingness, she followed him into the presence of Nimir Sadh.

Ralph and Dal and Billy were almost silent as they waited, but the right people who were also waiting talked among themselves, some of them loudly asserting their incredulity, while others told, in awed voices, of miraculous revelations.

"I've been here three times," a girl proclaimed loudly. "Why, I wouldn't dream of doing a thing without Nimir Sadh's advice. He predicted the very day my husband's sister died, and it was Nimir Sadh that told me that my husband was running around with another woman. I'm getting a divorce all right, but I want to ask him how much alimony I'm going to get."

Ralph Truman smothered a chuckle of amusement, then became suddenly grave as he leaned forward to whisper to Dal and Billy.

"I'm convinced this bird has an accomplice who has an entree into the very innermost circles of society in this town. He's only been here two months, but I'll bet he's cleaned up a fortune. It's like this all the time—from early morning till late at night. The old boy won't give me a reading any more. He knows I'm wise to his graft, and he's psychic enough to dope it out that I'll have him run out of town if I can get the goods on him and his accomplice, and by George—"

Nyda's dramatic entrance interrupted his threat. She had flung open the door and now she stood leaning against it, her full bosom rising and falling with spasms of fear.

"The duty has," she panted in a loud, harsh voice.

"Let's get out of here!" Ralph Truman sprang to his feet and took Nyda's arm and led her forcibly from the room.

"What did he tell you, Nyda?" Ralph demanded, when the four of them were in his car, homeward bound. "You can help to run him out of town if you'll tell us frankly what he said to you."

"I won't tell!" Nyda cried, then began to sob wildly.

"Then I suppose there was just enough truth in what he told you to make you scared to death of him," Ralph flung out at her grimly. "That's why we can't get anything on him. If I knew what he really said to you, I'd have a clue as to where he got his information. Will you tell, Billy?"

"No," she set her lips stubbornly. Dal's hand tightened on hers.

"Did he hint at secrets which you thought no one else in the world but yourself knew?" Ralph persisted, his gay friendliness lost in his righteous indignation.

"I don't want to talk about it, and neither does Nyda," Billy cried out then. "Please, Ralph."

"Well, how about you, Romaine? Are you with me? You haven't let this cheap faker rope you in, have you?"

Dal Romaine's white teeth flashed in a smile, but Billy, watching him, saw that his eyes were somber, brooding.

"I'm afraid I can't speak with authority on this particular clairvoyant, Truman, but it happens that I have had experience with mystics in the east—in India, to be exact—and I have seen far stranger things than you, with your practical, middle-west-mind, could possibly dream of. I have been a student of the occult for many years, you know. But as for Nimir Sadh—" He shrugged his shoulders as if to dismiss the discussion, or his own part in it.

At midnight Billy Wells stood before the open window of her room, drinking in deep, satisfying draughts of the crisp October air, in an effort to clear the last cloying taint of incense from her lungs. Suddenly she leaned far out of the window, to watch a familiar figure hurrying down the driveway, keeping close to the tall box hedge as if to conceal her movements as much as possible. As Billy watched, a car rolled up to the curb, barely stopped, received its passenger, and glided away. The little drama had been enacted in the silver radiance of a full moon.

"I thought Nyda would have to see Eddie Banning tonight," Billy told herself, as she crept, shivering not with cold but with fear for all of them into her bed. "Whatever Nimir Sadh told her concerns Eddie Banning as vitally as it does Nyda."

The next day Dal Romaine took Winnie Shelton to call upon the crystal gazer, and when Billy saw her at dinner that evening she realized with a fresh surge of jealousy and hatred that Winnie had not been frightened at all, but had been made bubblingly happy by the "revelations" of Nimir Sadh. And no one knew better than Billy that the only prediction which could bring that look of luminous joy into Winnie's shallow blue eyes was the prophecy that she was to marry a man whose description fitted Dal Romaine.

For many days Ralph Truman did not come to the Curtis house. Dal himself seemed to be extraordinarily busy and preoccupied, and Billy was surprised to find how relieved she was that he did not press her to confide the details of Nimir Sadh's "readings."

One Saturday late in October, Viola, the girl's personal maid, brought her a note, which the girl said, had been delivered by messenger. Before she opened it, even before she saw the tiny, printed characters on the envelope, Billy knew, by the sick plunge of her heart, that it was from Dal, and that it brought bad news.

"Mignon, beloved! I am called away. I cannot even see you before I leave. I do not know when I shall be back, nor can I tell you where I shall be, for the business that calls me away will take me to a number of cities. I shall write, of course, and you must not worry, dear heart. I beg of you to trust me, to hold me fast in your heart, as I hold you fast in mine. For the sake of all our future happiness, do not let anything come between us while I am gone. I cannot say any more now, except—I love you, and

The next morning when she went down to the late Sunday breakfast, heavy-eyed with lack of sleep, she found Nyda and Winnie at the table, the brunet and blond heads bent over a newspaper, uttering excited exclamations of astonishment and incredulity, and, on the part of Nyda, a fierce exultation.

"Who's eloped or got a divorce?" Billy demanded.

"Nimir Sadh has been exposed and driven out of town!" Nyda exulted.

Why?

PRETTY hard to dope out the answer — when comfort and protection are so close at hand yet remain unused. Equally hard to fathom the reasoning of motorists who complacently stick by the shortcomings of poor, indifferent and unproved motor fuels, when the known superiorities of "370" are right there to grasp — and not a single drawback to their use.

Wadhams 370

High test that IS high test!

— though for years meriting a higher price than other gasolines rated as "high test" now offers that same margin of superiority without the advanced cost! No reduction of quality, mark you, but a leveling of the price alone.

Consider! At today's market, the country's acknowledged leader in gasoline quality comes to you at actually less per gallon than you have been asked for a number of seasons past for the lowest test common grades of gas. Comes to you untainted, unshorn of a single advantage of extra miles — extra smoothness — extra power — extra comfort — extra speed — extra acceleration.

Again consider: Never has a single gasoline authority or even prejudiced rival brand attempted to dispute the repeated Wadhams statement that high test gasoline is even more important to car life in summer than in winter!

Sensibly, calmly, add these cold facts together — and if you find that your motor has been running under conditions that are "all wet" — why, put up the umbrella!

EXPECT 2,000 ALUMNI AT U. W. COMMENCEMENT

Madison—(AP)—Over 2,000 former graduates, alumni of the University of Wisconsin, will return to their Alma Mater for Alumni Day, Saturday, June 18.

The old grads probably will arrive in Madison before the 15th, to take part in the many exercises of Commencement week, which starts the 15th.

Former classes that are expected to return are those of 1911, 1916, 1909, and 1908; 1902, 1891, 1890, and 1889. Special homecomings will be held for the classes of 1902 and 1877, the former celebrating its 25th year and the latter half a century.

The purpose of the four consecutive classes having reunions at the same time, according to John Beitzinger, alumni recorder, is to allow those who were friends during four years of school to be united. Irrespective of this arrangement, each class out of 25 or 50 years hold a reunion, and all those out of the university over 50 years, reunite each year.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is:

It requires More Strength to Bid an Original No Trump Third Hand Than in Either of the Earlier Positions.

Each day this week a North hand is given with the previous declarations in four cases; the question in every case being what should North declare? Yesterday's North Hand (Score, Love-All)

- ♠ K-J-3
- ♥ J-2
- ♦ K-Q-10-4
- ♣ K-9-6-3

My answer and reasons follow:

No. 13 — South pass, West pass, North should pass.

North has a hand with which a Dealer or Second Hand should bid one No Trump; it has three suits stopped and is above the average. An average hand (reckoning on the basis of an Ace counting 4, a King 3, a Queen 2 and a Jack 1) equals 10, and a hand counting more than 10, with three suits stopped, justifies a No Trump by Dealer with less than an Ace or the equivalent above the average (count 14, and North's hand counts only 13).

No. 14 — South one Spade, West pass; North should bid two Spades.

As a general rule, it is not advisable to jump with less than four trumps, but in this case the side strength fully justifies that type of bid.

No. 15—South one Heart, West pass; North should bid one No Trump.

With less than normal support in South's suit and stoppers in the other three suits, North's declaration is clearly marked; undoubtedly he should bid No Trump.

No. 16—South one Diamond, West pass, North should bid one No Trump.

A dangerous declaration because of the worthless doubleton in Hearts; but it is the only advisable bid except to jump Diamonds, and that would not show strength in two other suits. The hand has not sufficient strength to justify the belief that it is probably some in Diamonds and not in No Trump and therefore the No Trump should be tried. (Today's North Hand (Score, Love-All)

COLLEGES WILL STUDY COST OF EDUCATION

An agreement by which a study of the cost of education will be made was entered into this week between Lawrence, Beloit and Carleton colleges at a meeting of the presidents of the institutions at Chicago. R. J. Walter, business manager of Lawrence college, as well as Dr. Henry M. Wriston, were present.

A similar system of cost accounting will be adopted by the three colleges, which are approximately the same size, and the results will be thoroughly studied. Carleton college is located at Northfield, Minn.

CITY SENDS $195 TO STATE FOR LICENSES

A check for $195 was sent by Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, to Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, Saturday, as the state's share of fees collected on Class A permits. Thirty-nine licenses were issued at $50 each, netting the city $1,950, according to Mr. Bachman. Under state law the city must send the state 10 per cent of the amount collected. Class A permits must be renewed on July 1.

Phone your orders. You'll get the same satisfactory choice as if you had made selections yourself.

Make out your list the first thing after breakfast. Phone for food. It's the better way. You will find that it saves time and changes the shopping hour to a social hour. It will give you much more time to do other things besides shopping. It conserves energy—there is no need of carrying bulky packages. There is delivery to your door rain or shine. There are no walking, driving, or parking difficulties when you use the phone. It's an easier and a better way.

Johnston's ALMOND SHORT COOKIES

With Hotel Martin
Three-of-a-Kind Sherbet

JOHNSTON'S Almond Short Cookie is one of the favorites of hotels and clubs to serve with summertime desserts. Crisp, crumbly, richly shortened, filled with sliced almonds, JOHNSTON'S Almond Short has a dainty deliciousness all its own.

We have procured a recipe from the Hotel Martin, Milwaukee with which you should try this cookie. Or serve it with any of your own favorites. It makes desserts more enticing.

HAVEN'T YOU FOUND OUT ABOUT

OAK GROVE MARGARINE YET?

PEOPLE are spreading it on their bread. Grumpy husbands find it on their toast at breakfast and break out into smiles. The children whoop with joy when they see it on the table at lunch. Everyone in the family welcomes it at dinner, for Oak Grove Margarine makes vegetables more delicious and adds that ultimate tastiness to gravies and meats.

Housewives are finding out that pies, cakes, hot breads and cookies have a more delicate texture when shortened with Oak Grove. Everybody is eating it, one way or another, three times a day, every day.

Oak Grove Margarine

makes a good meal even better. It spreads smoothly on bread. It is the sweetest, purest, most delicious margarine you can use. It is made fresh daily under United States government inspection. Try a pound. If you are not satisfied, your grocer will cheerfully refund your money.

Corn Fritters

1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 cups corn, 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, 2 tablespoons melted Oak Grove.

Method: Mix and sift dry ingredients, add corn and egg yolks beaten until light. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop the batter in hot fat by spoonfuls and fry until brown. Drain on brown paper.

THE NUT CRACKER

The Snyder trial gave us one tip anyhow. . . . The married daters all come to the ring at each-weights.

Yoshino Ota, Takelohi harada and Tezo Toha are three smart Japanese stars named for Davis cup play and said to be a threat to the United States. . . . They certainly are, to the headline writers, anyhow.

Uncle Walter says his Robins have improved since he had all the players' turn teeth jerked out and now, we picture, the Cincinnati Reds are in for a flock of extractions.

Let's see now, is this Ben Johnson's week to be head of the league or is he on his vacation?

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSPHILOSOPHY BOOK
MOST POPULAR AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Durant's Book in Constant Demand Since It Was Received at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—The most popular book in the non-fiction class at the Kaukauna Free Public Library is "The Story of Philosophy" by Will Durant. This book has been in constant demand since its arrival at the library several days ago. Hendrick Willem Van Loon, an equally famous author, says of the book, "After 44 years of plowing through unrelenting stuff I got hold of 'The Story of Philosophy' by Will Durant and now I hasten to recommend it. Here at last is a book that has told what I always wanted to know and never quite could discover." A set of twelve copies of the works of Durant has been received at the library.

Many interesting books for young people and children were included in the traveling library received a short time ago from free library commission at Madison. The total library sent from Madison totals 124 volumes. Part of them are included in the class known as "Reading With a Purpose." Several profusely illustrated books on architecture are in the set.

The Women's Relief Corps of this city recently presented the library with a picture of the ship, "Constitution." The picture will be hung in the main reading room of the library.

New books at the library in the non-fiction class are: "The Iron Puddler," Davis; "International Law," Read and "Pony Express," Bradley. Books that are comparatively new in the fiction class are: "Belshazzar's Feast," Bower; "Heritage of the Sioux," Bower; "Dancing Floor," Buchanan; "Chinese Parrot," Biggers; "Black Hunter," Curwood; "The Smile," Larkins; "Under the Tonto Rim," Grey; "Smoky," James; "Wary Guts," Lincoln; "Rugged Waters," Lincoln; "Blue Castle," Montgomery; "Cheverons," Nason; "Harvey Gorrard's Crime," Oppenheim; "Dawn," Porter; "Road to Understanding," Porter; "Judge Colt," Rainer; "Way of the Buffalo," Steltzer; "Plumes," Steltzer; "Harmer John," Walpole; "Gallant Lady," Wildemer; "Bill the Shick," Williamson.

MULFORDS DROPPED TO SECOND PLACE

Postals Win Twilight League Game and Cinch Hold on First Place

Kaukauna—The Postals went into the undisputed lead in the Kaukauna Twilight Softball league Thursday evening when the government men won a 9 to 2 game from the third place Bankers. The Postals displayed a class of ball and were not seriously threatened. Mulford's were relegated to second place as a result of their defeat by the Electricians early in the week.

Another defeat for the Volleyballers shoved them further into the cellar when Homans won their second game by defeating the sports 14 to 12 in a close, free hitting contest. The Electricians' victory over Mulford's put them in a tie for third place with the Bankers while Andrews Oil gained a step by winning over Thilmany on Monday evening.

League standings:	W.	L.	Pct.
Postals	6	1	.857
Mulford's	3	2	.600
Bankers	4	3	.563
Electricians	4	3	.563

M'CARTY AND HAUPT
DELEGATES OF C. O. F.

Kaukauna—The annual state Catholic Order of Foresters convention will be held at Sturgeon Bay Tuesday and Wednesday, June 14 and 15. R. H. McCarty has been chosen as delegate from Holy Cross count No. 118 and Nic Haupt will represent the south section No. 59 at the convention. Sessions will be held in the morning and afternoon.

A big celebration is being planned for Tuesday evening when Flag day will be observed. The two local delegates have received letters from Sturgeon Bay urging as many Foresters to turn out for the celebration at Sturgeon Bay as possible. Mr. McCarty said at least twenty would make the trip from Kaukauna.

GONYO GETS SUMMER
JOB IN MILWAUKEE

Kaukauna—Neil Gonyo has secured a position during the summer as physical director for the Eagles club at Milwaukee. Mr. Gonyo was one of Kaukauna's outstanding athletes. He graduated from the Orange and Black school in 1925 and is now attending Marquette university. He is expected to be a strong contender for an end position on Coach Murray's Golden Avalanche this fall.

Dance at Binghamton, Sat. Nite.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Gordon Patton. His telephone numbers are 298 J and 10. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Patton.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A regular meeting of the Kaukauna lodge of Elks was held Thursday evening in the Elks hall on Second-st. Routine business was transacted.

Plans for several summer outings were made at a regular meeting of Electric City chapter Thursday evening. Committees were named to make arrangements.

MRS. ADAM MILLER IS DEAD IN GREEN BAY

Kaukauna—Mrs. Adam Miller, 65, 205 W. Fourth-st., died at 2:05 Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Taylor, at Green Bay following a two months illness. She is survived by her widower and four daughters, Mrs. P. O. Koskio of Minneapolis, Mrs. J. L. C. Wolf of Minneapolis, Mrs. W. F. Taylor of Green Bay, and Miss Sallie Miller of Kaukauna; three sons, Herman Miller of Kaukauna, Michael of Chicago, and Fred of Appleton. She was born in Germany and has been a resident of Kaukauna for thirty-four years. She was a member of the Ladies Aid society of the Reformed church. The funeral probably will be held Sunday afternoon at the Reformed church at Kaukauna. The Rev. E. L. Worthman will conduct the services. Interment will be in the Union cemetery.

START BUILDING WALL
ALONG BANK OF RIVER

Kaukauna—A crew of workmen started work on the river wall near the new Wisconsin-ave bridge Wednesday morning. A wing dam is being constructed to hold back the water. In about another week enough progress will have been made so more men can be added to the crew. Foremen in charge said that the crew now working at Little Chute would come to Kaukauna in about a week or ten days. The men are leveling the canal banks at Little Chute. By the middle of summer close to forty men will be employed in repairing the river bank here. Materials and supplies have been placed on the canal bank and are ready for use. The government tug Fox has been assigned to the job. It is expected the repair job will cost over $50,000.
